Session II: July 16, 23, 30, August 6, 13 SPECIAL WRAP-UP CLASS Friday September 10

The first class of each series will be held at the Museum and subsequent classes at a variety of public and private gardens. The front entrance to the Museum will open on 9:45 am on June 4 and July 16.

Dear Students,

If you have taken class with me before, most likely you have all your supplies. Please check this list to be sure you have all the supplies you need. Experienced painters or those who have not taken class with me please note:

In our classes we use only six colors (including white), in order to experience and learn about color mixing and creating a palette. You only need to buy the colors indicated. You can choose to work in gouache watercolor or oil paint for this painting series.

Below is the full list of supplies from Blick Art Materials, website dickblick.com. You are welcome to buy supplies wherever you like, just please note the specific colors and materials we will work with. PLEASE do not buy paint sets! Waste of money. I am supplying you with the order numbers for dickblick.

This is the full array of supplies you will need: Easel, paints, palette, brushes, water container for gouache, or mineral spirits jar for oils, mineral spirits for oil, pencils, sketch pad, watercolor block for gouache, canvas boards for oil.

o Easel: Mabef field painting easel M- 27.

o Gouache watercolor is a full- bodied water based paint that works transparent or opaque, depending on how you use it. It is very versatile, with rich hued pigments and a great painting texture

o Oil paint is pigment in an oil base, and needs mineral spirits to clean or thin down as opposed to water. I am very happy to help painters new to oil paint.

Please note that I do not teach acrylic painting. It is very hard to use outdoors as it dries very quickly, and I am not partial to its finish. Please do try either gouache or oil paint, I know you will enjoy!
