PARRISH ART MUSEUM

ABOUT THE PARRISH ART MUSEUM

The Parrish Art Museum is a place to discover and connect with art and artists with a focus on the rich creative legacy of Eastern Long Island and its global impact on the art world. The Museum regularly presents temporary exhibitions, including new installations drawn from our world-class collection of more than 3,000 works; as well as special exhibitions that reconsider the work of a single artist or group exhibitions that explore compelling themes. The Parrish produces hundreds of public programs and offers a year-round schedule of inspiring education initiatives.

The Parrish is the oldest cultural institution on the East End of Long Island. Founded in 1898 by Samuel L. Parrish in the Village of Southampton, the Museum opened its new Herzog & de Meuron designed facility in Water Mill in 2012, providing for expanded services in research, interpretation, collaboration, education, and interactive, multidisciplinary programming.

Situated within one of the most concentrated creative communities in the United States, the Parrish Art Museum is a vital cultural presence on the East End of Long Island. For more than a century, the Museum endured and expanded – from a single exhibition hall in Southampton Village built by Samuel Longstreth Parrish as a showcase for his collection, to its relocation in 2012 to a spacious, light-filled, purpose-built facility in Water Mill, New York.

The Museum's landscape and critically acclaimed building honor Eastern Long Island's built and natural environment evoking the unique atmosphere of the region that inspires many artists. During COVID, the meadows have become an important addition to the galleries, offering an opportunity to experience outdoor sculpture safely outside and extending an open invitation to those who drive by.

The Parrish Art Museum is an equal opportunity employer. The Museum is committed to a work environment that supports, inspires, and respects all individuals and we do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, marital status, age, national origin, ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, pregnancy, genetic information, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, military service status, or any other status protected under federal, state, or local law. Individuals of diverse backgrounds are strongly encouraged to apply. The Museum's offices are fully accessible.
